

Our history

On the father's side, our family is from the Celtic Scottish-Welsh area.

For many generations it dedicated itself to stone and marble work in these areas;

my father was the last one, what's more, he laid the stone foundations for our House in 1952.

My mother's origins go back to Germany, in the Saxe area and have boasted of a family hotel tradition in these places for more than a century.

Today, we still commit ourselves to satisfy all our regular and new customers who choose to spend their summer and winter holidays on the plateau of Folgaria.
